

Flimby Primary School Newsletter

Welcome to the new look newsletter! This may change as the weeks go on as I get to grips with the new layout!

I hope you have all had a lovely summer; the children have settled back into school well and we are delighted to have them all back.

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II

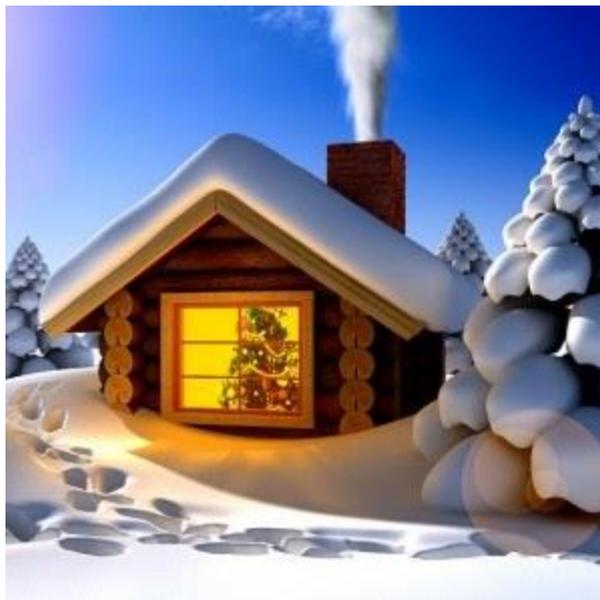

It is with great sadness that we heard of the death of Queen Elizabeth II yesterday. Many of the children have studied Queen Elizabeth as part of their KS1 history over the years so know quite a bit about her. Today we have spent time together in a whole school assembly and in classes remembering the Queen and why she was so special. We also held a two minute silence altogether on the yard. The display boards in our Hall will change to celebrate the life of the Queen. Queen Elizabeth was an inspirational, remarkable lady who lived and breathed for our country. We plan to commemorate her wonderful life through a remembrance book that we will start towards the end of next week. We plan to invite the community to also come and add their names and thoughts. We will make a time capsule and include information from this time along with our book for future generations to discover. We are also planning to tie black ribbons to our railings as a mark of respect and ask anyone who would like to add their own ribbons, feel free to do so. We hope to be able to hold a service at church next week to hold our own special service. We will keep you informed as the week goes on.

Dates

We are busy working on dates for the autumn term - these will include Christmas performances, photos, harvest celebrations, grandparents day, Halloween disco...and so much more! We will get these dates out to you ASAP so you can all add them to your calendars.
